

FORMER BISHOP PHINKAM OF CALGARY PASSES AWAY

Calgary, July 18.—Rev. Cyril Phinkam, for 40 years pastor of the Anglican church of St. James, died at his residence in Calgary shortly after 10 o'clock on Wednesday morning.

Profound sorrow was expressed throughout the city when the death of the Rev. Phinkam, for forty years the beloved Anglican bishop of Calgary, had passed to his well earned rest.

Practically up to very recently, the age rarely retained a wonderful amount of vitality, but in the last few days he had been laid in bed and was unable to get up.

Just before the actual transition his face wore a most beautiful smile, and that was all the more so because the last few days he had been laid in bed and was unable to get up.

The easiest way to make charming lines out of you is to decide you haven't time to shave this morning.

THEIR STILL IRON IN THEM

Do we lament this so-called demoralized age? Are we told that human beings are going bald, losing their teeth and their stamina, becoming strophed, deteriorating into heart disease? Are we fearful for the children born of this indolent generation?

Then read of Malmgren, Chuchnevsky, Lundberg, Skryberg, Cecel, Amundsen and others in our modern epic of the north.

Malmgren, a Swedish professor, smashed and bruised when the Italia crashed into the Arctic ice, stayed behind to die in an open grave and sent his two companions on, so that his crippled pace would not hold them back.

Chuchnevsky braved death to reach himself and crew to spy out the location of Italia survivors. When he died he sent a radio message: "Hunt for others. We're O. K. for the present."

Lundberg landed his plane on shifting ice blocks to reach Svalbard. Then he tried again, and crashed. Skryberg, equally interred, landed on the same ice and rescued him. Cecel lived for forty days on the ice with a broken leg and other injuries. Yet he refused to be rescued before his commander.

Amundsen, knowing his dangers flew into the Arctic on an errand of mercy, and vanished. He knew what the odds were against his coming back. Ten to one he found the men he sought, landed on dangerous ice to help them, and came to grief. God knows where he is. The outside world has no idea.

Some of these men came out of adversity to perform heroic feats that stamp them for ever as giants of courage. Many of them went from a southern climate into the harsh north and lived for six weeks under the most frightful conditions of hunger, cold and danger. When they were rescued their first remark was incidentally: "I'm glad to be here, anxiety for the others. Not one of them, whose body was whole, yielded to hardship. There's a lot of iron in the old race yet."

THE ELKS' EDUCATIONAL FOUNDATION

In convention at Miami, the Elks have resolved to create a trust fund of $200,000,000 to be known as the Elks' Educational Foundation, which will be devoted to educational, charitable and benevolent purposes.

The maintenance of the objectives is positive evidence of the growth and strength of the Elks' movement. It is also positive evidence of the high ideals and aims for which the organization stands, and which have already gained for the Elks an enviable reputation in the world.

There is no place in modern society for selfish individualism; the Elks' Educational Foundation is a practical experience that co-operative action is essential in the fulfillment of social obligations, and the multiplication of service ideas shows the growing trend of public opinion in this direction.

There are, unfortunately, many worthy objects of charity and beneficence, but the greatest work that confronts the world today is to discover and eradicate the causes which are responsible for social distress, and to take the spread of education to the masses.

The Elks' Educational Foundation doubtless will supply the means for education to thousands of persons

THE NEW ATLANTIS

The possibility of discovering new traces of the lost continent of Atlantis still excites the minds of scientists, and it is reported that the work of probing the depths of the ocean now under way will throw some light on the mystery which has persisted as a vague tradition for many centuries.

More than three hundred years ago, Francis Bacon revived interest in this mythical land by applying its name to his ideal society. It may be that this western hemisphere of ours is the lost Atlantis.

The theory has been advanced that North and South America have drifted away from Africa and Europe, and a glance at a map of the world will show that the contour of the continents, allowing for the erosion of unknown ages, gives an air of plausibility to this theory.

Some students assert that the drift of the continents has passed beyond the theoretical stage, and has been established as a fact; it is said that the Americas are, inch by inch, moving slowly westward, but it is not at all likely that during our lifetime, the ocean voyage to the Orient will be sensibly diminished.

A student of early seventeenth century maps has arrived at the conclusion that the only locality that will tally with Bacon's description of the New Atlantis is the northwest coast of North America.

LEGIMES FOR FORAGE

Various kinds of legume crops have been tried at the Indian Head, Saskatchewan, Experimental Farm for the production of annual hay crops. Peas, vetches, and human sweet clover have been grown side by side. Of the vetches, common and sand vetch were used, the common producing the higher yield and was more easily handled. Human sweet clover was not a success. Mr. Key peas gave very good returns as a hay crop, but weight for weight it fell considerably below Banner oats. The Report of the Indian Head Experimental Farm for 1927 gives the details of the returns from the various crops and also reports results of experiments with various kinds of millet and Sudan grass.

Hug millet, it is stated, produced an early crop but was short in length. Sudan grass grows to a greater height but gives a low tonnage. Common and Siberian millet are very similar in their leafy habit of growth and are reported to have been ready to cut more than two weeks before Japanese. The results of this experiment indicate that for the production of feed Siberian or common millet makes a good combination with oats.

It might help some if warning notes were compelled to give back colonies when they can't keep up the payments.

ROLL down the map of the world. Follow the British Empire red through the continents and across the seas. There you see beckoning markets for Canada—where fewer trade restrictions intervene, where British tradition is appreciated, where Canada is known. There we can sell. There we can also buy.

Canada is buying more Empire goods than ever before—things we cannot grow or make—raw materials for our factories. Since 1922 Canada's imports from Empire countries have increased 67 per cent. Last year we bought Empire goods to the value of $250,000,000.

And what is Canada selling the Empire? Last year we shipped $500,000,000 worth of our products to other British lands, an increase of 44.3 per cent. in six years.

The various parts of the Empire want more Canadian goods. A demand exists among them for Canadian manufactures, or for the products of Canadian lands or waters. But we must see that our exports are maintained at a rigid standard, that they are packed as consumers desire, and that our prices are right.

To encourage this growing Empire trade, eleven of Canada's twenty-four Trade Commissioners abroad, are working in Empire centres. They are familiar with the demands of the people among whom they live. Their services and the information they gather are at the command of any Canadian producer or exporter. To get into touch with Trade Commissioners, write the Commercial Intelligence Service, Department of Trade and Commerce, Ottawa.

When you buy Empire goods, you do a part in making possible greater Canadian exports to these sister countries. Where we sell, we must also buy.

OBITUARY

DEATH OF ROBERT B. WILSON

The funeral took place on Wednesday of the late Robert Barclay Wilson of Macleod, who died suddenly at Lethbridge on Wednesday last. Funeral services were held at the Presbyterian Church Macleod, which were conducted by the Rev. A. C. Wishart, after which the funeral cortege proceeded to the Union Cemetery where interment took place.

The late R. B. Wilson was born in Scotland, in 1852, and was apprenticed in that country to tin-smithing, coming to Alberta over 35 years ago and to Macleod about 45 years ago, where he has lived ever since. For many years he farmed on a large scale in the districts north and south of Macleod but for the past ten years had retired from working activities. A few days prior to his death he was visiting friends in Lethbridge and while on walking Sunday afternoon with Staff Sgt. Allan, of the R. C. M. P., Mr. Wilson suddenly gripped his side and fell to the ground, where he expired in a few seconds. He is survived by two daughters and one son, Douglas Wilson of Blackfalds, Alberta, Mrs. Pett Robinson of Fernie, B. C., and another daughter resident in Vancouver.

The deceased was well known in Alberta and was a great collector of Italian and French carving, many excellent samples of which he had in his residence in Macleod at the time of his death. One of his treasured antiques was a beautiful berry bowl made and carved from the timbers of the Victory Lord Nelson's flagship. For many years he was closely connected with the N. W. M. Police and had many old-time friends in that force. He was predeceased by his wife some twenty-five years ago.

CROPS AROUND MACLEOD ARE SPLENDID

"This is the best crop I have had for years," a remark quoted from one prominent farmer's conversation, is reiterated on every hand by the farmers of Macleod district. Many of the fields with continued good weather will easily run over the forty bushel mark. Dick Walsh has a hundred acres of the prettiest wheat imaginable, and no one blames the lucky grower for claiming it will touch the fifty bushel mark if everything is O. K. and to see it is to believe the statement. Ashley Grier also has a wonderfully promising crop of wheat and rye which should easily tip the top figures when threshing time comes along.

In the south country, which suffered some damage from hail, there are numerous good crops, the Memmotters at Standoff having a bumper showing, while farmers like Shelding, Natch, Murphy's, Wyard, Sparling, and many others, are wearing a smile of satisfaction at the prospective outcome of this year's harvest. We readily admit there is many a slip 'twixt cup and lip, but with an average run of luck Macleod is going to be well away this fall.

MACLEOD BOYS ATTEND TRAIL RANGERS CAMP AT LETH- BRIDGE

On Monday morning the Rev. J. F. Knight, M. A., B. D., accompanied the Macleod boys to camp at Lethbridge. There were five in the group viz. Donald Sutherland, Christopher Courtney, Frank Brooks, Charles Knight and Hugh Young. The spot chosen for the camp was ideal about six miles down the river from Lethbridge with plenty of trout, good water supply and abundance of fuel within easy reach. The leaders were almost ready for the crowd of about 50 and the side lads were manifesting a fine spirit and considerable ingenuity in completing the preparations. On Tuesday the regular camp programme of Bible Study, Physical Education, Camp Craft, Story Period and Recreation will be followed until Monday July 30 when the camp will break up and the young men will return. Delegations from Barons and Tabor were joining with Lethbridge in the camp. All that is required is the present type of weather to make the camp the best ever held in Southern Alberta.

Low Cost Insurance

The cost of insurance has been greatly lessened by The London Life, thus enabling even those with heavy financial obligations to make adequate provision for dependents. The famous Jubilee, the Earning Power Series and the Duplex Series are all developed on the "reduced premium" idea. Premiums on these low-initial-cost plans are subject to still further reduction by dividends.

Raspberries

Owing to weather conditions in B. C. it has been difficult to get sufficient quantities of preserving raspberries. The crop is good, however, and we think there will be plenty of raspberries within the next few days.

CHERRIES

The rain in B. C. has caused the cherries to split on the tree rendering them unfit to ship. This means very high prices, however the crop was so heavy that it looked at one time as if Cherries would be quite reasonable in price.

APRICOTS

Apricots seem to be the best lot this year on far. The crop is large, the quality good, and the price for No. 1's will be around $2.65 to $2.75, with No. 2's 3c per crate less. This is for 4 baskets. We recommend Apricots to the frugal housewife this year.

No matter how much it rains, the good road in Macleod, will be always being looked after by the Council, are never any source of worry to the tourist, and such a thing as a motor getting stuck in Macleod streets is an absolute unknown quantity. Thank you.

J. H. Shipley, of Oregon, was an auto visitor to Macleod this week for a few days and was greatly taken up with the farming activities in the district. He says upon leaving here the finest he has seen in many a year, and he likes the look of the country so much that he may become a settler here himself with his brother and family.

Only six Lethbridge rollers turned up for the Lethbridge-Macleod regatta game on Sunday last, and hence the other eight Macleodites were forced to play among themselves or to some shilly gally, while many of them did. Lethbridge might have shown little more sportsmanship and sent down a larger team.

diversion, but it is not restful in the sense that sleep is. Play furnishes relief from the monotony of work, gives a fresh mental stimulus, but it does not provide for the rest that is needed to rebuild and restore the body-cells broken down by activity.

Periods of activity, either at work or at play, must be balanced by periods of rest, and the ideal form of rest is sleep.

When disease attacks the body, rest is one of the essentials of treatment. The patient is put to bed and is kept as comfortable as possible in order that by means of rest, the body may make its best fight against the enemy—disease.

Persons who are below par, adults and children who are underweight, benefit by added rest. Children frequently gain in weight with no other change in their routine of life except a rest period after meals.

Rest costs nothing in money, but it means taking time from other things for the purpose. To do without sufficient rest is to wear out the body prematurely. Rest is required just as much in summer as in winter, which is a truth that people are apt to overlook, both for them and for their children.

Mah, darling, I want you to go to the grocery. It's a little careful in your dress. A girl needs nothing more than a scarf now-a-days in order to be well dressed. Have it long enough to show the suggestion of a fancy garter. Have one of the Murray make of pumps that are stocked by Reach & Co. That is all you need to make an angel of you.

BLANKETS AND RUGS

Camper out to enjoy outside life, where you sleep in the open or in tents, you want to be well supplied with plenty of covering. Camper out farmers help who have sleep in places where there is a scarcity of bedding often have the joy of the night taken away by shivering spells, and inconsistent covering. A good measure of comfort in most beds is keeping the knees, legs and feet warm and well covered. We have a special blanket made by the O.V. woolen manufacturers. A special one for women, lustrous with hooker fastener. They keep out draughts and ensure warmth in the coldest weather. Doctors, salesmen, every man and woman who drives a car in winter, will find this Drivers Rug indispensable for protection. Comfort means pleasure, and pleasure means a full participation of life. They fasten at the sides, causing no inconvenience in putting on. The last word is comfort.

Pasteurization Is Held To Be A Necessary Evil By Burnaby Physician

Vancouver, July 16.—Pasteurization of milk and cream is a necessary evil and it tends to make the producer careless of sanitation in his plant, Dr. J. W. McIntosh, medical health officer for the municipality of Burnaby, said the provincial milk commission, which opened its inquiry here yesterday, into conditions in the dairy industry on the coast. Even pasteurization did not make milk necessarily harmless, and Dr. McIntosh. He favored a system of inspection of milk producers and supervision of their plants with the object of making pasteurization unnecessary. Milk direct from the cow was preferred to pasteurized products, he said. (Can. Herald.)
